

NEWSFLASH

'Wool in Architecture and Interior Design' is now available.

Brussels, 26.07.2011

The book 'Wool in Architecture and Interior Design' presents the work of state-of-the-art architects setting new inspirational standards for the application of wool in modern architecture and interior design.

The book consists of the work of twelve internationally leading architects using wool in domestic and commercial buildings and interior designs. The represented showcases give a wide overview of wool's versatility and creative usage including its natural benefits concerning luxury, health and safety, fire resistance as well as sustainability.

The visually appealing reference book is an inspirational guide for architects and interior designers as well as students and decision makers in the respective areas.
